

Adam Heller

Adam Heller is running for State Representative to bring his background in finance and accounting to the House of Representatives on behalf of Shelton residents. There is much work to be done at the State level and we need progressive ideas to balance our budget-- but not on the backs of working families. We must have an economic agenda that works for middle-class families.

On November 8th, Vote for Adam Heller:

- Lives in Shelton with his wife, Maria and their family
- Pledges to work across the aisle for Shelton
- Active member of Shelton's Board of Apportionment and Taxation
- Has experience with business, budgets, and technology
- Will not use the seat to run for higher office

Vote Tuesday, November 8th

Your Vote Matters!

Adam's opponent, Jason Perillo, has been in office 10 years and he has passed the time with nice photos and press releases. Jason Perillo proudly touts his "no" agenda, voting "no" on major pieces of legislation that would help working families in Shelton.

Jason Perillo is the first person in front of the cameras when state funds are allocated to Shelton, even after he votes no on every budget and efforts to help Shelton families. With policies like that, it's no wonder why those that know Jason Perillo best don't support him:

- Mayor Lauretti did not support Jason in his re-election bid
- Shelton Republicans challenged Jason in a primary this year
- Connecticut Republicans worked against Jason when he ran for Republican Leader of the House
